Shelf Life

Some foods can stay fresh well past their "expiration" dates. A 2013 report from Harvard Law School and the Natural Resources Defense Council states confusion over food dating has led 91 percent of Americans to throw away food prematurely.

EGGS: Pay no attention to the SELL BY date on our carton-it's meant to help retailers manage turnover and isn't a measure of freshness. Eggs should keep for three to five weeks in the refrigerator.

CEREAL: Boxes typically come printed with a BEST BEFORE date, but it's a conservative estimate set by manufactures for peak quality. Boxed cereal can stay fresh for up to three months if you re-fold the inner bag tightly.

APPLES: Store your favorite apples in the fridge in a plastic bag with a few holes in it for air circulation. They should keep for three weeks.

DELI MEAT: You can keep unopened packages of sandwich meat in your fridge for two weeks-even if the SELL BY date has come and gone.

BREAD: Ignore the BEST BY OR SELL BY date. Placing your loaf in the fridge can extend freshness by two weeks.

Stewardship

"The seventy-two returned rejoicing, and said, 'Lord, even the demons are subject to us because of your name.' Jesus said, 'I have observed Satan fall like lightning from the sky. Behold, I have given you the power to "tread upon serpents" and scorpions and upon the full force of the enemy and nothing will harm you. Nevertheless, do not rejoice because the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice because your names are written in heaven.'"

Luke 10: 17-20

The Lord is reliant upon us, on each and every one of us, to serve as laborers in His vineyard. There are incredible needs among humankind. Each of us probably realizes that but part of our frustration is viewing ourselves as such a small contributor to helping the Lord. Note that all those He sent returned, and they returned with joy and a great sense of satisfaction. They learned that when they did what Jesus told them to do, they could anticipate blessings beyond their expectations. They also reported to Jesus that they were successful "in your name." That is what will make us successful as well, keeping our focus on working for the Lord and in the Lord's name. That is the nature of discipleship and stewardship. — See more at www.catholicsteward.com/blog/

Dear St. Sabina Parish,

It is odd for me to think that I have to move already to another assignment, but I know that this is the life of the priesthood of Jesus Christ. I wanted to share my sincere gratitude to you all one last time for this past year, my first year as a priest, being such a good one. I know I was rusty when I first started, but I believe I matured as the year progressed. Thank you to those who have prayed for me and continue to pray for me as I make my first transition into my new parish. Every parish has a different personality, so I know that I will have to adjust to this new personality. I'm sorry that Fr. Jeff will have to do more work since no replacement is coming in to St. Sabina, so please pray for him as he resumes the full life of the parish at St. Sabina. I can sincerely say that St. Sabina is a good parish to have started the priesthood at. I will miss the parish and the parishioners. May God bless you all, keep you close to His most Sacred Heart, and the Immaculate Heart of our Mother Mary. Godspeed. Fr. Curt Vogel

Thank You! A special thank you to the Ladies Auxiliary for hosting the good-bye receptions for Fr. Curt last weekend. Thank you to all of the parishioners who helped by providing goodies for the receptions.

Reflection on the Readings

As we continue delving into the mystery of the paschal journey with Jesus, the refrain from Psalm 66 clues us into the theme running through this Sunday's readings: "Let all the earth cry out to God with joy." Joy in the Lord, for all that the Lord has done and will continue to do as we travel the road of discipleship, is what we heartily proclaim this Sunday. The psalmist recalls God's loving care for the people during the Exodus and knows that God's love manifested in past events will and does continue to be made real in our daily lives, here and now. The Lord's power has done wonders for all the people and we shout with joy, as we experience the Lord present and active in our lives.

The first reading comes from the last chapter of Isaiah. The rich images of life, abundance, continued vitality and nourishment suffuse this text. From the lifelessness and death of the Babylonian exile God has transformed Jerusalem into an overflowing nourishing mother who never ceases to be attuned to the needs of her children. Isaiah's joy in God overflows as he images Jerusalem as a nursing mother who is ever ready to comfort and give delight to her children. Life teems all around and within Jerusalem, symbol of God's people, and of God's presence with the people. Isaiah goes even further in imaging God: "as a mother comforts her child, so will I comfort you." Everything in this reading makes us cry out to God with joy.

Luke's gospel passage speaks of Jesus, the very joy of God in our midst, missioning his followers, seventy-two in all, to go forth and proclaim the empire or reign of God to all. By healing and establishing a realm of peace, well-being, tranquility and abundance among the people, God's reign is made real and effective. Ultimately that abundance is centered on Jesus' presence and action in our midst, the very presence and action of God. In Jesus, God-with-us, there is nothing that we cannot do, even overcoming the forces of evil that often surround us and can overwhelm.

Jesus' followers return rejoicing in God for the great things that they were able to accomplish in Jesus' name. Luke has Jesus proclaim that through their work in spreading God's reign, Satan is already defeated, falling "like a lightning bolt from the sky." Jesus also adds that true joy ultimately comes not from defeating Satan but from intimate union with God expressed in the image of "your names are written in heaven." This is the ultimate joy that we celebrate today.

No matter what happens, we are to rejoice in the fact that in Jesus, God has chosen to be with us, and we are to proclaim that from the rooftops. Rejection, conflict, oppression will not win out, for the kingdom of God is at hand, and always will be. This joy is meant for all, symbolized in the number seventy-two, a number inclusive of all the nations of the world as referenced in chapter 10 of Genesis. We too, in fidelity to our journey as disciples, are called to be inclusive of all, proclaiming God's joyful reign and loving concern for all.

Paul adds a final note to this aspect of joy. That note centers on the cross. His boast and his joy is in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ. Even when we experience the marks of Jesus on our own bodies through the rejections and opposition of others, still our response is one of joy. We are assured that no matter what happens, God will continue to be our source of life, abundance, vitality and joy. So indeed we too can boast in the cross. That life of sacrifice, of care and concern for the other no matter the cost, is the hallmark any disciple who walks the paschal journey with Jesus.

Reflect on how God's life-giving power has been operative in your life. Name some things in your life that make you "cry out to God with joy."

Bible Study

Catholics are mostly exposed to the Bible through the Sunday Lectionary Readings. In order to help us all enter into the Bible through the Sunday readings, we are offering study sessions that will provide an opportunity to read, to study background to the readings, and to reflect on how to apply the readings to our lives. We will gather on July 24th and August 28th at 10:30am. All are welcome. Bring a Bible and a friend. To register for these sessions, please call Biagio at 816-979-3153.

Reflexión Sobre las Lecturas

Mientras continuamos escarbando en el misterio del camino pascual con Jesús, el estribillo del Salmo 66 nos da pistas sobre el tema recurrente en las lecturas de este Domingo: "Aclamen al Señor, tierra entera." La alegría en el Señor, por todo lo que el Señor ha hecho y seguirá haciendo mientras que viajamos el camino del discipulado, es lo que proclamamos con ganas este Domingo. El salmista recuerda la guarda amorosa de Dios por el pueblo durante el Éxodo y sabe que el amor de Dios manifestado en eventos pasados continua a ser hecho real en nuestra vida cotidiana, aquí y ahora. El poder del Señor ha hecho maravillas por todas las personas y gritamos de alegría, mientras experimentamos al Señor presente y activo en nuestras vidas.

La primera lectura proviene del último capítulo de Isaías. Las imágenes ricas de la vida, la abundancia, la continua vitalidad y nutrición impregna este texto. De la falta de vida y la muerte del exilio de Babilonia Dios ha transformado a Jerusalén en una madre nutritiva que no deja de estar en sintonía con las necesidades de sus hijos. La alegría de Isaías en Dios se desborda como él capta el imagen de Jerusalén como la madre nodriza que está siempre lista para confortar y deleitar a sus hijos. La vida pulula todo alrededor y adentro de Jerusalén, símbolo del pueblo de Dios, y de la presencia de Dios con el pueblo. Isaías va aún más lejos en captar el imagen de Dios: "como un hijo a quien su madre consuela, así los consolaré yo." Todo contenido en esta lectura nos hace aclamar a Dios con alegría.

El pasaje del Evangelio de Lucas habla de Jesús, la misma alegría de Dios en medio de nosotros, dando misión a sus seguidores, setenta y dos en total, a salir y proclamar el imperio o el reino de Dios a todos. Al sanar y el establecer un reino de paz, bienestar, tranquilidad y abundancia entre la gente, el reino de Dios se hace real y efectiva. Básicamente esta abundancia se centra en la presencia y la acción de Jesús en medio de nosotros, la misma presencia y acción de Dios. En Jesús, Dios-con-nosotros, no hay nada que no podemos hacer, incluso la superación de las fuerzas del mal que nos rodean y abrumen.

Los seguidores de Jesús regresan regocijándose en Dios por las grandes cosas que eran capaces de lograr en el nombre de Jesús. Lucas presenta a Jesús proclamando que a través de su trabajo en la difusión del reino de Dios, Satanás ya está vencido, cae "del cielo como el rayo." Jesús también añade que la verdadera alegría no viene de derrotar a Satanás, sino de la unión íntima con Dios expresado en el imagen de "sus nombres están escritos en el cielo." Esta es alegría definitiva que celebramos hoy.

Pase lo que pase, debemos regocijarnos en el hecho de que en Jesús, Dios ha elegido estar con nosotros, y hemos de proclamar eso desde los tejados. El rechazo, el conflicto, la opresión no ganarán, porque el reino de Dios está y siempre estará cerca. Esta alegría es para todos, simbolizada en el número setenta y dos, un número inclusivo de todas las naciones del mundo, como se indica en el capítulo 10 del Génesis. También nosotros, en la fidelidad a nuestro caminar como discípulos, estamos llamados a ser inclusivos de todos, proclamando el reino alegre y la guarda amorosa de Dios para todos.

Pablo añade una nota final a este aspecto de la alegría. Esa nota se centra en la cruz. Su jactancia y su alegría está en la cruz de nuestro Señor Jesucristo. Incluso cuando experimentamos las marcas de Jesús en nuestros propios cuerpos a través de los rechazos y la oposición de los demás, nuestra respuesta sigue siendo una de alegría. Se nos asegura que no importa lo que pase, Dios seguirá siendo nuestra fuente de vida, abundancia, vitalidad y alegría. Así que de hecho, nosotros también podemos jactar en la cruz. Esa vida de sacrificio, de la atención y la preocupación por el otro sin importar el costo, es el sello distintivo de cualquier discípulo que camina el camino pascual con Jesús

Reflexione sobre cómo el poder de Dios que da vida ha estado operativa en su vida. Nombre algunas cosas en su vida que le hacen "Aclamar a Dios."
